TIP: Back-up Data and Sleep Better at Night

Making sure your computer files are safely backed up gets harder and harder as your business grows. Burning files onto a CD will work if your data files are small (and is definitely better than doing nothing), but once your information flow hits a certain size, you need an easier option. A server can help you schedule daily back-ups in the middle of the night, so your systems aren't interrupted and nor is your sleep.
