Summary of Consumer Guarantees Act 1993 (CGA) rights

If you are a consumer under the CGA, you have certain rights in respect of goods that a business sells you. In summary, goods must:

- be durable for as long as most people would expect that kind of good to last;
- be fit for their purpose – do all the normal things that people would expect this kind of good to do;
- be free of minor and major faults; and
- do what you, the consumer, are told they do including anything written on the box or in advertising material.

If a good fails to meet one of the guarantees set out in the CGA, you have the following rights:

- If the failure is serious you can choose between a refund, a replacement with goods of the same type and similar value, a repair or keeping the goods and the business that sold you the goods will pay you an amount of money to cover the loss in their value.
- If the failure is not serious, the business that sold you the goods can choose to refund, repair or replace with goods of identical type. If they choose to repair or replace it must be done within a reasonable time or you can ask for a refund.
- If you incur extra costs from the failure, the business that sold you the goods must pay you a reasonable amount for damage caused by any fault or for extra costs caused by the failure of the goods including any costs in returning the goods.
- There is no limit on the number of claims you can make.
- If the business that sold you the goods has repaired or replaced them, you have the same rights with that item as you had with the original goods.
- If the business that sold you the goods disagrees about the fault, what caused the fault or what remedy you are entitled to, you can take them to the Disputes Tribunal. There is a cost which you pay to the Tribunal for taking such a claim.

Comparison of CGA rights to your rights under this Contract

In order to access a remedy under the CGA, you are required to show that the goods have failed to comply with one of the CGA's guarantees (for example, the guarantee as to acceptable quality of goods, or the guarantee as to fitness for a particular purpose). This Contract provides you with a more direct route to a remedy in the event of a Breakdown (as that term is defined under the Definitions section).

While it is likely that a Breakdown would also give rise to a remedy under the CGA, this Contract allows you (subject to the terms of this Contract) to have Microsoft repair or replace your Product without the need for you to show the Product has failed to meet any particular quality or functionality threshold (i.e. a CGA guarantee). However, you will still need to show that the fault with your Product meets the definition of Breakdown and is not excluded from this Contract under the Exclusions section below.

Faults with your Product may arise that do not constitute a Breakdown, in such cases, you will not have a remedy under this Contract, but may do under the CGA.

While your rights under the CGA commence at the time you purchase your Product, the rights under this Contract do not commence until the expiry of the manufacturer's limited warranty. The manufacturer's limited warranty expires 2 years from purchase of the Product.

Your right to cancel this Contract

You have a right under the Fair Trading Act 1986 (FTA) to cancel this Contract within 5 working days after the date on which you receive a copy of this Contract, or at any time if Microsoft has failed to comply with the disclosure requirements in section 36U of the FTA, unless that failure is minor. You may exercise this right by contacting Microsoft at one of the contact addresses or telephone number set out at the top of this page. If you exercise this right, Microsoft will immediately repay you all additional consideration you have paid for this Contract. This right is in addition to the other rights of cancellation set out later in this Contract.

NOTE: the submission of a Claim does not automatically mean that the damage or failure to the Holder's Product will be Covered under the provisions of this Service Contract. This Contract may not provide any coverage if the Holder performs unauthorized repairs, as ONLY services conducted by a party authorized by Us are eligible for Coverage.

HOW COVERED SERVICE(S) WILL BE PROVIDED
