

Introductory Episode to the Industry Experiences Podcast

Podcast transcript

David Starr: Welcome to the Microsoft Industry Experiences Team podcast. In this series, you'll hear from leaders across various industries discussing the impact of digital disruption and innovation, sharing how they've used Azure to transform their business.

I'm your host, David Starr, and am excited about the content we'll be bringing to you. The Azure Industry Experiences show focuses on real stories from those who have solved real and complex problems using Microsoft Azure. We'll host a variety of guests, with our main focus being to answer the question, how are you succeeding with Azure in your industry?

The industries we'll cover include banking and financial services, manufacturing and retail, healthcare, life sciences, and insurance, although we may expand that list over time. We'll be speaking with thought leaders, technical decision makers, system architects, and others who've solved industry problems using Azure.

We look forward to conversations we'll bring you to help inform your technology decisions.