Part No. X10-03986

Microsoft® Office InfoPath™ 2003 helps you gather information flexibly and efficiently in rich, dynamic forms. Now you can more effectively share, reuse, and repurpose information throughout your team or organization—improving collaboration and decision-making.

Rich, dynamic forms allow you to quickly enter information that is more accurate and meaningful.

There's no need for in-depth programming knowledge—forms are easy to create.

Gather information more flexibly and efficiently.

- Easily collect the right information—the first time—with data validation, screen tips, and conditional formatting.
- Personalize the information being captured; add sections as you go to make the information you gather more meaningful.
- Work online or offline to conveniently gather and manage information anywhere, anytime.
- Minimize training time with the familiar Microsoft Office environment, and access authoring features like spell check, font formatting, and more.

Connect people, information, and processes more effectively.

- Share, reuse, and repurpose information across systems and processes with support for XML Web services.
- Enhance team collaboration by integrating InfoPath 2003 with Microsoft Windows® SharePoint™ Services.

Easily develop and deploy rich, dynamic forms.

- Build your own forms for gathering information in the WYSIWYG design mode, or work with 25 ready-to-use samples.
- Include powerful features like data validation in your forms without writing code.
- Publish your forms to a shared network folder, a Web server, a Microsoft Windows SharePoint Services form library, or send them via e-mail.

InfoPath 2003 usage scenarios

InfoPath can make any organization more efficient:

- Save time and effort by using InfoPath to update the results of sales calls and then make that information accessible to others in the company.
- Easily create a weekly team status report that provides a quick and effective way for teams to collaborate.
- Use InfoPath to track employee time and expenses with accuracy and minimal effort.
- Speed up the processing of purchase orders and project approvals with InfoPath.
